

Come join together for a greener world!

The Sacred Earth Fair, the Multi-faith Network for Climate Justice's family event this year, is just around the corner! It will happen on the beautiful meadows and surrounding nature trails of the Center for Spiritual Living (CSL), 2224 Yew St. Rd., Bellingham, on July 31st from 1-5 pm. There will be performers, musicians, speakers, outdoor activities, refreshments, a salmon video, and so much more!

Our speakers include Lummi Nation's Swil Kanim, Nooksack Tribe Storyteller Tammy Cooper-Woodrich, Reverend Dr. Andrea Asebedo, and multi-faith singers Andrea Shupack and Seth Thomas. Several dozen spiritual communities, environmental organizations, and businesses will share what they are doing to create a better, greener world and help us enjoy and celebrate nature while we explore the many ways we can choose to care for the earth and each other, as our climate changes.

For more information, email: sacredearthfair@gmail.com

Or visit us on Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/groups/1912919172431711>

And on Earth Ministry's website: <https://earthministry.org/event/sacred-earth-fair-joining-together-for-a-greener-world/>

Reverend Dr. Andrea Asebedo, Center for Spiritual Living

"It is so important that all people, especially people of faith, come together to protect, nurture and regenerate our beautiful planet."

Cantorial Soloist Andrea Shupack, Congregation Beth Israel

"The Sacred Earth Fair is an important opportunity to come together as a wider community of faith traditions to share, learn from, and inspire each other. By connecting and experiencing each other's efforts, that is how we keep going forward to make positive change."

Reverend Seth Thomas, Saint James Presbyterian Church

"Through caring for and restoring the earth, we become co-participants with God in the real work of resurrection."